Trustee Swenson reported that he attended the forum on Student Mental Health co-sponsored by the District on March 23. President Plotkin noted that he and Chancellor Kanter will attend on April 17 a legislative higher education hearing on AB 577, the bill sponsored by Assemblymember Ruskin to establish a pilot project in which Foothill-De Anza would be a statewide resource for open educational resources. He also reported that a retired Silicon Valley entrepreneur who recently developed an on-line geometry textbook had contacted him after noticing the District's interest in open educational resources. Lastly, he reported that Chancellor Kanter and Director of De Anza's High Tech Center Training Unit Carl Brown participated in a meeting sponsored by Rice University and the Hewlett Foundation at which they discussed the need to make open educational resources ADA-compliant across the nation.

Item 16

CCCT BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTION

Trustee Bechtel, noting that there were ten incumbents but none of them represented Northern California, proposed that the Board cast a vote for Bill McMillin in place of incumbent Charles Hayden. Trustee Fong expressed his support for her proposal. President Plotkin instructed each trustee to mark his or her ballot and pass the ballots to the Board Secretary, who was asked to tabulate the results onto one ballot to be returned to the Community College League of California and report the results in future correspondence with the Board.

Item 17

ANNUAL REVIEW OF BOARD POLICY 9110.1: NUMBER OF STUDENT TRUSTEES; TERM OF OFFICE; RIGHTS

Chancellor Kanter proposed one change in Administrative Procedure 9110.1: rather than requiring that the student trustees meet with the college president prior to each regularly scheduled Board meeting, which can be difficult to arrange, that they communicate on a regular basis with the college president. Student trustees Derflinger and Diaz concurred. Trustee Bechtel pointed out the need to correct the paragraph numbering in section 1. No changes were proposed for the policy. Both the policy and revised administrative procedure will be presented for approval at the next meeting.

Item 18

FIRST REVIEW OF THE 2007-08 OPERATING BUDGET

Vice Chancellor of Business Services Mike Brandy presented preliminary information regarding the 2007-08 operating budget. He noted that the District does not expect one-time dollars from the state this year, and growth is expected to be flat. If enrollment weakens further in spring quarter, the projections may need to be changed. At the moment, a positive difference of $2.6 million is projected between revenues and expenses.

Item 19

AWARD OF CONTRACT PURSUANT TO BID #945-1072 — CAMPUS CENTER BOOKSTORE FIXTURES, FOOTHILL COLLEGE

Director of Purchasing and Material Services Carmen Redmond explained that the bid protest from Bailly Showcase and Fixture Company had been evaluated and reviewed by legal counsel. Although Fon-Seca Cabinet and Fixture Company, as a sole proprietor without regular employees, does not have evidence of workers' compensation insurance regularly on file with the state, it has been determined that, before proceeding with any work, Fon-Seca would be required to show the District evidence of such insurance. Ms. Redmond investigated the company's references and is confident that Fon-Seca would be able to do a good job. For these reasons, she recommended that the Board deny the bid protest. Trustee Bechtel made a motion to approve Item 19, which Trustee Casas Frier amended with the understanding that evidence of workers' compensation insurance for Fon-Seca would be addressed according to the District's usual practice.

- M/S/C: Casas Frier/Diaz
Advisory vote: 2 yes
Board vote: unanimous
Action:
- 1) Denied the bid protest submitted by Bailly Showcase and Fixture Company, and
 - 2) Authorized the Director of Purchasing Services to award a contract in the amount of $178,770 for the Base Bid Proposal to the lowest responsible and responsive bidder, Fon-Seca Cabinet and Fixture Company, with the understanding that evidence of the company's workers' compensation insurance would be addressed according to the District's usual practice

As two members of the public were waiting to address Item 23, President Plotkin, hearing no objections, advanced Item 23 on the agenda.

Item 23

REPORT ON TOUR OF HISTORICAL HOUSES

Friends of the Griffin House members Steve Aced and Jonathan Baer gave a report on the tour they organized of five restored historical houses. Accompanying them on the tour were Trustees Fong and Swenson; Vice Chancellor Brandy; Executive Director of Facilities, Operations and Construction Management Charles Allen; and a representative from the architectural firm Cody Anderson Wasney. Trustee Swenson shared his thoughts from the tour, pointing out how the restorations resulted in beautiful, iconic buildings, how employees enjoyed working in those places, and how such restoration maintains good community relations. He expressed concern about the expense and building requirements that would be involved in restoring the Griffin House, a situation that is not easily comparable to each of the five houses they visited. He stressed the importance of considering how maintenance would be more costly and complicated; how efficiently the space would meet the needs of whatever programs could be located in the building; and how the building is apart from the rest of the campus and might be moved to a more visible location.

Trustee Swenson also asked whether replacing so much of the building would result in a replica rather than an authentic historic house. Mr. Baer responded that using the same or "sympathetic" materials to replace deteriorated portions would not devalue the building's historic aspect. Cody Anderson Wasney architect Chris Wasney discussed what kind of restoration is generally acceptable to the preservation community: e.g., reinforcement for earthquake stability, or new roofing and materials to provide water protection. He explained the difference between "adaptive re-use," which would more accurately describe the kind of work expected for the Griffin House, and actual "restoration," which has a different standard.

Trustee Fong shared his thoughts about the tour, echoing Trustee Swenson's comment about beautiful, iconic buildings, but he also expressed concern about the cost. Responding to a question from Trustee Bechtel, Vice Chancellor Brandy said that the design charrette would include Mr. Aced and Mr. Baer, a representative from the State Historical Society, user representatives from various Central Services departments, and would be moderated by architects from Cody Anderson Wasney.

Chancellor Kanter asked how the absence of original interior materials would be addressed. Mr. Wasney explained that preservation work is primarily concerned with building exteriors. If evidence of the original interior (such as photographs) exists, it would be possible to try to match the evidence, but re-creating general period design, which he termed “false historicism,” is not permitted. He also discussed the conflicts and congruencies between sustainability and preservation.

President Plotkin thanked Mr. Aced and Mr. Baer for organizing the tour and said he is eager to consider the viability of preserving the Griffin House. League of Women Voters representative Terry Terman asked about the judicial decision in the Friends of the Griffin House v. Foothill-De Anza lawsuit. Vice Chancellor Brandy explained that the District was challenged on the adequacy of its CEQA analysis to justify demolition and therefore must go through a new CEQA process. If, at the end of the process, the District is interested in demolishing the building, then the matter must go back before the court.

Item 21

LIST OF GENERAL CONTRACTORS PRE-QUALIFIED TO BID ON THE DE ANZA COLLEGE PERFORMANCE HALL PROJECT (AKA VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS CENTER)

Trustee Bechtel asked about problems experienced with John Plane Construction Company on previous jobs. Vice Chancellor Brandy responded that the legally proscribed pre-qualification process explicitly sets forth the kind of information that can be considered, and the District's past experience with a contractor is not one of the criteria. He emphasized that John Plane successfully met all of the criteria in the pre-qualification process. Director of Purchasing and Material Services Carmen Redmond added that there is a specific legal threshold and clear statutory process to disqualify a contractor on a particular bid. Director of Construction Program Management Claudette Brero-Gow confirmed that all of the contractors on the submitted list met the criteria of the reference checking.

M/S/C: Swenson/Derflinger
Advisory vote: 2 yes
Board vote: unanimous

Item 25

PROJECT LABOR AGREEMENTS

Vice Chancellor Brandy noted that the purpose of this agenda item was for members of the public to express their perceptions about project labor agreements and for the Board to provide direction to staff on how to proceed in preparation for the April 30 meeting. Neil Struthers, CEO of the Santa Clara and San Benito Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, presented information regarding project labor agreements (PLAs), speaking about their strengths and rebutting common criticisms.

Speaking in opposition to PLAs and characterizing them as non-competitive, discriminatory and too costly were Nicole Goehring, government affairs director for the Golden Gate Chapter of Associated Builders and Contractors; local contractor Connie Norlander; community member Keith Di Filippis; and Bill Becker, member of the Silicon Valley Taxpayers' Association.

Speaking in support of PLAs were contractors Theresa Engquist (owner of Andy's Roofing), Vic Giacalone (owner of Best Electrical Company), Armando Lamas (president of S.J. General Building Maintenance), Robert Lomori (owner of White Oak Plumbing), Jamie McCabe (president of J. McCabe Plumbing), Mike Pence, Tom Pond, Rick Radonich (president of Cal Coast Telecom), Ken Treadwell and Phil Yanez; Local 393 plumbers Bernardo Barrera, Karl Baumheckel, Ozzie Lee, Adrian Martinez, and Gilbert Zapata; retired Local 393 plumber Fred Hirsch; sheet metal worker Hugo Solis; Local 405 carpenters Susie Sherar, Rex Stevens and Jennifer Wootten; Juan Garza, formerly with the California Labor Commission and representing the Joint Electrical Industry Board of Santa Clara County; Josue Garcia of the Santa Clara and San Benito Counties Building and Construction Trades Council; and Fred Vela. They spoke about how PLAs ensure pension and health benefits for workers, support training for the apprenticeship programs, ensure quality of work, and level the playing field for contractors. Warner Strang, representing construction management company 3D/International, spoke of the positive experience of the County of Santa Clara with PLAs. Ric Reyes, bond program manager for the Eastside Union High School District, spoke about the district's positive experience with PLAs.

Trustee Bechtel thanked all of the speakers. She said she had reviewed all of the materials and spoken with a contact in the construction field, and after hearing today's testimony wished to support PLAs. She cited how they level the playing field, ensure quality, provide benefits for workers and prevent strikes. She said she would like to know more about how the Construction Careers apprenticeship program would work. Trustee Fong agreed with Trustee Bechtel's comments, adding that he had spoken with contacts at local community colleges and learned about their positive experience with PLAs. Trustee Casas Frier thanked all of the speakers as well, saying she had reviewed the materials, listened to the testimony, and concluded that PLAs are worth supporting. She highlighted the importance of a qualified, educated workforce and echoed Trustee Bechtel's interest in learning more information about the apprenticeship program. She asked what would happen if PLAs are so widespread that not enough workers are available. Mr. Struthers responded that there would not be a problem attracting sufficient workers because of the state's strong wages and positive construction climate. Trustee Swenson expressed support for PLAs on large projects but questioned the advantage for small projects, adding that he is concerned about attracting enough bidders if there is an added burden on smaller bids. He noted that the study referenced by Mr. Struthers shows that PLAs are advantageous for projects sized in the range of $5-$10 million and larger. Mr. Struthers indicated that this would be a negotiable part of the agreement. Student Trustee Derflinger also thanked the speakers and indicated he would support PLAs as an investment in the community.

President Plotkin noted that the Board is clearly interested in entering into negotiations with the Building and Construction Trades Council to develop a project labor agreement. He then asked about the timeline and requested more information about how the apprenticeship program would operate. Responding to the question about a timeline, Vice Chancellor Brandy said that the District would develop a timeline showing the areas of focus for the negotiation process, which could be presented for Board action on April 30. Chancellor Kanter said she will obtain more information regarding the Construction Careers Program at San Jose City College and whether a similar program can be developed for the District. President Plotkin, referring to the differentiation between small and large projects, said it is important not to negotiate a project labor agreement that does not deliver all of the benefits of a project labor agreement.

ADJOURNMENT

President Plotkin adjourned the meeting at 8:20 p.m.
